PHL ENGLISH CELEBRATES
SEVENTH BIRTHDAY—

Mrs. J. W. English gave a party Friday afternoon for her little boy, her little son, Phil. The number of birthday games were played on the lawn. Later the happy little folks were invited into the dining room. Pink napkins and plates, a beautiful candle on the table and were attractively draped about the chandelier, over the center of the table. The girls were birthday girls with their little birthday cake with a single candle. Delightful music was served with the meal. Mutton chops were given to the girls for favors and the boys were given a corn.

Mrs. English was assisted in entertainments by Mrs. E. W. Taylor.

MR. ZACK CARDWELL, HIGHLY ESTEEMED VICTORIA CITI-
ZEN DIED TUESDAY—

Mr. Zack Cardwell, age 55, prominent citizen of Victoria, died last Tuesday, January 31, after a short illness of pneumonia. Mr. Cardwell was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cardwell, who are natives of the County, having lived near Victoria all his life, with the exception of five years spent in Elba. He was a good man and was actively interested in school and other affairs, especially in his home town. He was a member of the Bautista Church, and also a member of the Victoria Masonic Lodge.

Internment was made in Wimberley Cemetery, the Victoria Cemetery, Masons having charge of the funeral. Mr. Cardwell leaves to his widow his wife, Mrs. Mary, and two sons, Mr. L. M. West, who also operates a similar store in Opel, Mr. L. K. Johnson, of Butler County, is manager of the Elba store.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitman and children, Gladys and Robert Lassiter, visited Mr. and Mrs. Murray Fancher at Coleman the first of the week.

Miss Annie C. Bringtonton visited in Montgomery and Tallahassee last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cardwell, Jr., four brothers and one sister, namely: Mr. A. Cardwell, of Troy, L. L. Hartwell, Victoria; Fox Cardwell, Enterprise; and C. C. Cardwell, Enterprise; and Mrs. J. A. Fowler, Clarksville, Ark.

INTEREST KIN IN BEAUTY CONTEST—

Most interest was shown manifested in the beauty contest which is being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and it appears it would be difficult to say who will be the winner. Pictures are on sale at the drug stores. Help your favorite girl win the crown.
